CHANGES IN AGRICULTURE POINTED OUT

Change continues to be the hallmark of Adams County agriculture — and of the services provided by the county Agricultural Extension Association — according to the annual narrative report of the county agents and extension economists.

Copies of the annual report have been forwarded to the Pennsylvania State University and to the county commissioners, County Agent Thomas E. Piper said today, and the report will be a basis for the annual meeting of the county's Extension Association officials January 5.

The report notes: "The educational program of the Extension Service leads people to evaluate traditional methods of doing things and to explore new alternatives."

CHANGE IN ATTITUDE

It then adds: "Adams County's livestock producers experienced a change in attitude when they toured the eastern corn belt this year. Although ranked fifth in Pennsylvania numbers of beef cattle on farms, local cattlemen have largely followed the traditional pattern of production. The observation that lower priced crossbred cattle could be fed at a profit, that corn silage could play a major role in the feeding program, and that storage and feeding facilities play an important part in the success of a livestock enterprise, forced a change in attitudes."

Similarly, the report noted, "Local swine producers joined with their neighbors in adjoining counties to form a Regional Swine Producers Association. Through this program local producers followed their hogs from the grading pen through to the cutting up. When 'loin eye' comparisons were made, many local producers experienced a change in attitude, realizing their product was not in demand by the modern housewife. A greater interest in the selection of breeding stock has resulted and promises improvement in local pork production."

NEW TECHNOLOGY

The report also observes: "New technology has been introduced to the fruit industry at a rapid rate in recent years. Extension's educational effort has been directed to helping growers interpret and demonstrate the application of research findings to solve problems."

That more changes are coming for the fruit industry was forecast in another section of the report which stated: "Rising labor costs and shortage of competent labor is a major problem in the fruit industry. Attention was directed to this problem during our (Continued On Page 3)

Thieves Steal $100 Christmas Display At Home

Thieves stole the entire Christmas display at the home of Paul Miller, along the Hanover Rd., during the night.

Mr. Miller reported to state police this morning that the thieves took "everything up to the porch" late Wednesday night or early this morning.

The display had included a Santa in a sleigh with reindeer and numerous lights, including those on evergreens on the lawn and near the house. The intruders took not only the cut-out figures of Santa and reindeer, but the Christmas lights as well.

Miller estimates his loss at $100, and said that the timing of the theft disturbed him most. "If it had been after Christmas, I could have made a new Santa and reindeer before next year. But now the whole thing is gone when it's needed most."

THREE CHOIRS WILL SING AT TWO SERVICES

There will be two services of worship at Christ Lutheran Church in celebration of the festival of the Nativity of Our Lord, one this evening at 7:30 o'clock and one on Christmas at 10:30 a.m.

The Senior Choir, directed by Kenneth Raessler, will sing "Break Forth, O Beauteous, Heavenly Light" by Bach; "Stars Lead Us Ever On," a Sioux tribal carol; "Yuletide Carol," a 16th century English air arranged by Murray; "Christ Was Born Today," by Rockwood; "Glory to God in the Highest," arranged by Busy; and "Gloria! Sing Gloria!" by Hood.

The Youth Choir, also directed by Mr. Raessler, will sing "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming," a Rhemish Folk hymn; and "March of the Kings," a 17th century tune.

SON STILLBORN

A son was stillborn this morning at the Warner Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Stouter, Emmitsburg R. 1.

"For Unto You Is Born This Day... A Saviour, Who Is Christ The Lord"

AND IT CAME to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; because he was of the house and lineage of David.

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

To Give Christmas Play On Sunday

The Mennonite Players will present their annual Christmas play on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Fairfield Mennonite Church. This year the presentation is "Christmas in the Market Place," a nativity play by Henri Gheon adapted into English by Eric Crozier.

A family of strolling gypsy players play their own simple but heartfelt version of the nativity story, each changing character as often as the story demands. The eldest of them, who claims to be a direct descendant of one of the Magi, is played by G. E. R. Smith; his wife, by Mary Roth; his son, Gary Bechtel; his daughter-in-law, Mabert Williams; and the grandson, Rodger Benner.

Two young carol singers are played by Vicki Trembow and Charlene Williams and the youngest member of the cast is two-month-old Loren-Philip Roth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Roth, who plays the Infant in the manger.

$600 Damage When Auto Strikes Bridge

Damage was estimated at $600 by borough police when a car operated by Thomas Edward Spahr, 531 Carlisle St., struck the Hanover St. bridge over Rock Creek, Wednesday night at 10:35 o'clock.

According to the local officers Spahr was driving toward Gettysburg on the Hanover Rd., when he lost control of his station wagon and the right front end of the vehicle struck the side of the bridge. The car then swerved to the south and ran off the road into a field west of the bridge.

REPORTS THEFT

Borough police this morning were notified that during the night someone had stolen five agitator caps off the machine and shut off water in the rest room at Schwartz Washette, E. Water St.

Home gardeners have found good use for a yule tree after Christmas.

First they cut off the boughs. Smaller branches are placed curved ends up around plantings or on garden beds when the ground is exposed. This serves as a mulch, reducing thermal fluctuation and preventing plants from frost heaving.

Next, larger branches are used to build teepee-like protection over hybrid azaleas, laurel, cotoneaster and other tender shrubs. These lean-to, properly anchored and allowing air space between the protection and the plants themselves, serve as shields against winter burn and sun scald.

Discarded Christmas trees also may be used as protection and shelter around large boxwood and rhododendron. But these should be well anchored so they will not crush the plantings or blow away.

Needles of a yule tree can be stripped and spread beneath azalea, rhododendron, laurel, andromeda and other acid-loving shrubs.

Still another after-holiday use of a Christmas tree is to erect it as a backyard bird feeder. A fir may retain its needles all winter outdoors. Suet can be hung from the branches of the tree to attract such meat-eaters as nut-hatches, brown creepers, chickadees and jays. Peanut butter may be a good substitute if you have no suet.

A feeding shelf even may be erected on such a tree. Then a mixture of seed can (Continued On Page 3)

The 60-voice children's choir of Mooseheart High School will be featured in a 25-minute Christmas concert to be presented over Radio Station WGCT, the local affiliate of the Mutual Broadcasting System, on Christmas Day, at 1:30 p.m.

The concert will emanate from the House of God, the Children's Cathedral on the Mooseheart campus, and will be directed by Hal Young, director of voice at Mooseheart, and recorded under the supervision of Phil Lampkin, director of music for the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Accompanying the Mooseheart students in this special Christmas program will be Miss Evelyn Pahnke on the huge House of God pipe organ.

GIVES 8-POINT PROGRAM FOR PA. EDUCATION

A "far reaching" eight-point program for the continued improvement of education in Pennsylvania and in Adams County was offered by County Superintendent of Schools M. Francis Coulson in a radio address on WGCT this morning at 11:45 o'clock.

"They are expensive goals to realize and they are so intertwined as to be inseparable. As citizens of Adams County we must be convinced that meeting in full the educational responsibilities of the schools will produce significant results, not only in terms of immediate material and cultural welfare but also in terms of preparing citizens for a future in a changing and unsettled world."

"The economic future of our community and of Pennsylvania is directly related to the education and training of the people of Pennsylvania. How well we fare will be determined in a large measure by how successfully we pursue the goals that have been outlined," Superintendent Coulson said.

EVALUATE AND REFINE

His eight-point program follows: "A sincere and competent evaluation and refinement of curriculum offering should be undertaken in every school of every county of the Commonwealth."

"A deliberate and carefully planned program for upgrading the quality of the educational offerings should be continually in effect."

"The scope of public education in Pennsylvania should be extended into such areas as: Area vocational and technical schools, community colleges, kindergarten education, specialized services to the academically talented and adult education involving both training and retraining programs."

"The tax base for education should be strengthened throughout the state by establishing a more uniform tax structure with an equalization of assessments and the establishment of a broader base for local school districts to use for tax revenues."

OTHER PROPOSALS

Teacher preparation should be improved and opportunities for continued enrichment and for the in-service growth of teachers and (Continued On Page 3)

Xmas Services Predominant In Observance Of Christ's Birth

Adams Countians will join Christians throughout the world this evening and Friday to celebrate the Birth of Christ in services beginning at 7:30 o'clock and continuing through midnight Masses in some churches of the area.

Church groups and Sunday School organizations throughout the county will present Christmas pageants and special programs recalling the arrival of a new King to rule the Christian world and entire families will worship before the altars of all denominations to give thanks to God for His blessings.

Christmas Eve worship services and special programs are scheduled in many county churches at 7:30, 11 o'clock and midnight. Many rural churches will hold candlelight Christmas Eve services at 7:30 o'clock with special choral selections and messages from the pastors. A few of the churches have scheduled two Christmas Eve services to accommodate the expected large congregations at 7:30 and 11 o'clock.

CATHOLIC MASSES

The Christmas Mass will be sung in Catholic churches throughout the county at midnight, preceded by a half-hour of carol singing by the choirs and congregations. All services on Christmas morning will be low Masses. Communion will be distributed at all Masses. John W. Roth will narrate appropriate scripture texts before the singing of each carol prior to the midnight service in St. Francis Xavier Church here.

Christmas will be a "long holiday" for many countians. Banks throughout the county for the first time will be closed both Christmas Day and Saturday, giving employees a three-day holiday. A number of restaurants plan to close for the entire weekend. Stores generally will close early this evening to permit employees to spend Christmas Eve with their families. Local clubs will close at 5 o'clock this afternoon and will reopen on Saturday.

The Gettysburg Times will not publish Friday, Christmas Day. Public schools recessed Wednesday afternoon and will resume Monday morning, January 4. Parochial schools will return to classes Tuesday morning, January 5.

NEW APPRECIATION

Christmas giving has brought a new appreciation of the county to many. One man, who reported he was impressed by a television program depicting the "Appalachia area" said that after delivering toys and gifts to a needy family "I found out we have Appalachia here in our own county." A high school student discovered there are families in Adams County who live on dirt floors.

Thousands Are Homeless In Five States In Wake Of Christmas Eve Floods

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thousands of victims in five flood-stricken Western states were homeless on this Christmas Eve, and more joined in the exodus to escape new flooding as rain pounded the afflicted areas for the third consecutive day.

Soiled Christmas trees floated among the surging debris.

The savage Pacific storm sent dozens of mountain rivers spilling into scores of cities and towns in California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Idaho.

28 LOSE LIVES

At least 28 persons have died and more than 5,000 left homeless. Damage has been so great that officials have stopped estimating.

Parts of every state have been declared disaster areas. Air Force, Navy, National Guard, Red Cross, Coast Guard, and Civil Defense units were working around the clock with local officials to rescue thousands stranded by high water, slides and snow.

Rain and winds slackened briefly Wednesday but another low-pressure system moved in from the Pacific and the heavy downpour resumed. The Weather Bureau forecast rain and strong winds from Northern California to Washington through Friday.

MERCILESS TORRENTS

In California's rugged north country, entire communities were cut off by merciless torrents that tore out at least 15 bridges, knocked out telephone lines and washed away huge sections of highways. Hundreds of persons were trapped, without food or medicine, clinging to rooftops or perched on islands awaiting rescue.

Every town along the Eel River in northwestern California was inundated. In the hamlet of Rio Dell city officials ordered (Continued On Page 4)

Christians Throughout Free World Prepared To Celebrate Joys Of Xmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christians around the world prepared today to celebrate the joy of Christmas but in many areas troubled by controversy and fighting, joy remained only a hope.

Men were fighting and dying in the jungles of the Congo and Viet Nam in the Christmas of 1964. Yet most parts of the Christian world were at peace, however uneasy it might be.

"We must prepare ourselves well for Christmas, rekindling in our hearts the desire, the thirst, the anxiety for the living God and the blessed certainty of finding Christ, the God-made man," said Pope Paul VI in an audience at Vatican City.

LBJ'S FAMILY IS READY FOR XMAS AT HOME

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Christmas stockings marked "Daddy," "Mother," "Lynda" and "Luci" are hung by the chimney with care.

Colorful decorations of an eight-foot balsam tree sparkle in the President's library-office, and the Johnson family is ready for the excitement of Christmas at their ranch home.

There are a hand-made ornamental angel, pine cones and boughs of balsam on the mantles and stairways, a Nativity scene.

OPEN GIFTS TONIGHT

Mrs. Johnson says the ornamental angel which she received from a friend in Germany is a special favorite of hers. The First Lady did most of the decorating of the ranch home herself.

The President, Mrs. Johnson, and their daughters, Lynda, 20, and Luci, 17 will open their gifts from each other tonight. Then, if they follow their usual custom, they will wait until Friday morning to open their other packages.

The Johnsons plan to attend Christmas services at St. Barnabas Episcopal mission, 15 miles away in Fredericksburg.

TURKEY TRIMMINGS

For the holiday dinner there will be turkey and all the trimmings.

The Johnsons also spent last Christmas at the ranch and entertained 27 folk at Christmas dinner in the President's 12-room stone and frame home.

Last year's Christmas was far from a relaxing one for the chief executive. He kept busy on the holiday inspecting his cattle, delivering poinsettias to his neighbors, and taking a speedboat spin on a nearby lake.

He even took time last year to leave 40 acres more of "stomping ground" to add to the Johnson holdings of 400 acres along the Pendarnales River.

THREE CHOIRS

"Hail, Thine Brightest Day of Days" by Bach, "In Dulci Jubilo" by Buxtehude, and "Praise God, the Lord, Ye Sons of Men" by Walcha.

The special Christmas offering at all services will go to benevolent causes, including Lutheran World Action for the relief of misery around the world, institutions of mercy, American and world missions, colleges and seminaries, and all other synodical and denominational objectives.

PLAN BIRACIAL SERVICES IN CHURCH SHELL

RIPLEY, Miss. (AP) — There will be biracial Christmas services Friday in the raw shell of a new church rising on the ashes of one burned in racial anger.

"We won't have it finished and we might not have a roof," said Prof. Paul F. Schmidt, "but we're going to have two services Christmas Day, no matter what."

The professor headed the group of 31 Oberlin (Ohio) College students who formed the "Carpenters for Christmas" church rebuilding project.

The Antioch Baptist Church went up in flames shortly after it was used for a rally of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party. It is one of at least 30 destroyed by fire or explosion in Mississippi last summer. The site is about six miles east of Ripley.

Two walls are standing and others are taking rapid shape. But Schmidt does not expect to complete the work before the group must return to Oberlin Jan. 2. They travel by car.

"It may be," said Schmidt, "that five or six of us might have to come back later to do some of the brick work."

"We can't hope to have the roof on until sometime next week but we've got the backbone of the thing built," he added.

The Christmas Day service will be open to all races, said Schmidt.

"I don't expect any trouble because of this," he said. "We have been working together on the project all week and nothing has happened yet."

Rail Repair Shop Is "Revolutionary"

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP)—A $500,000 pushbutton shop for repairing freight cars in over-the-road service is in operation at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Altoona yards.

The assembly-line process whereby cars are uncoupled and shunted to various repair stations in the new shop "revolutionizes and speeds traditional methods for repairing freight cars," the PRR said Tuesday.

The railroad also said the shop, which handles cars requiring light repairs and periodic servicing, is part of a continuing program to modernize repair facilities.

A second line is scheduled for operation at the Altoona shop next year. Similar shops are operating at several other PRR yards.

Legislature Race Decided By Court

MIFFLINBURG, Pa. (AP) — Rep. Lester H. Zimmerman, R-Juniata, is the winner by 40 votes in his re-election race against Lee Fogelman, a McAllisterville Democrat.

Zimmerman was declared the winner Tuesday after County Judge Harry B. Crytzer unseated a Democratic appeal to count 11 absentee ballots that the election board had thrown out.

Final tabulation of 74 absentee ballots gave Zimmerman 3,687 votes to 3,647 for Fogelman.

With the General Assembly scheduled to convene in two weeks, two legislative races in the November election remain undecided as a result of challenges.

Xmas Won't Be White In State

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There will be no white Christmas in Pennsylvania, says the U. S. Weather Bureau.

It probably will be a wet one, though, with the forecast calling for light rain or drizzle throughout the state today, tonight and Friday. Mild temperatures are to accompany the precipitation.

The snow may arrive in Pennsylvania Friday night, with colder temperatures, the Weather Bureau said.

CHANGES IN

"The labor requirement was held to be a basic consideration in discussions of spur and dwarf-type fruit plantings, chemical weed control and general orchard operations. Increased attention will be focused upon this problem in the year ahead by a special committee to be appointed by the Fruitgrowers Association."

3RD DRY YEAR

Drought, for the third consecutive year, "served to keep rural people aware of their dependency on a Supreme Being to provide the sunshine and the rain that crops may be produced." And it also produced changes to meet the drought. With maintenance of good fertility levels demonstrating better yields even during drought, the county office had 2,784 soil samples brought to it to determine what was needed for proper fertilization. And cultural practices changed to cope with the drought conditions. Summer annuals were used to bolster the roughage supply for animals.

Dairy stables changed to meet new conditions. The report showed "the present trend is toward larger herds with larger and more valuable animals in the herd. Dairying has become a very specialized enterprise, a sort of family-sized industrial plant for milk production. The dairy stable thus becomes an industrial building which must take care of more cows while providing a savings of labor and time in operation."

One result has been a trend from loose housing systems to free stalls. "Dairymen report less udder injuries because cows are separated from one another." Milking practices are changing because of mastitis.

PROBLEMS CONTINUE

Another change has been an increase in interest in marketing. Roadside markets were improved in many instances. "The resulting improvement in business volume indicates objective accomplishment."

"Long range planning for improved market conditions" for fruitgrowers was the basis for a meeting. Sawmill operators also are working on better marketing procedures," according to the report.

Not all problems were solved during the year. "How to control the alfalfa weevil is possibly the most disturbing question on the minds of farmers as they look ahead to 1965," according to the report. "A feeling of uneasiness prevails in the light of pesticide residue problems. Since the chemicals which have demonstrated some effectiveness in controlling this destructive insect can no longer be used, growers are eager to find the solution." The report listed alfalfa as "our most important hay crop."

administrators should be further developed.

"Each school district should adopt written personnel policies, cooperatively developed, to bring about improved working relationships among teacher, administrator, school board and community. "State subsidy payments to local school districts should be adjusted to facilitate efforts by local districts to provide improved programs, competitive salary schedules, and expanded educational opportunities."

"Efforts should be directed at improving the public's knowledge and understanding of school's and the school program."

INCREASING PROBLEMS

Earlier in his address, Supt. Coulson cited the "increasing day-to-day problems" of public education and the list included steadily mounting enrollment, a short supply of qualified teachers, the increasing demands for education in the face of the shrinking market for jobs for those who are unskilled, the need for more attention to individual needs in education and the growing responsibility of the school for preparing politically competent men and women in view of a changing world.

He noted that 26 years ago there were 5,160 pupils in the public schools of the county. Now the number has exceeded 10,000 for the first time. Twenty years ago there were 230 teachers and now there are 450.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

He spoke of the need for motivating potential dropouts to finish high school and complete preparations for future job openings. He said that guidance services must be strengthened and he added: "A vocational training center, or area technical school, should be open and in operation on a round-the-clock basis when necessary to meet the needs of adults as well as youth."

"If these things are not done, there will be mounting human

AID NEEDY FAMILIES

More than 100 needy families in Adams, Franklin, Fulton and Cumberland Counties received food, clothing, blankets and other home necessities through the Needy Family Project of military and civilian personnel at Letterkenny Army Depot. In addition to assistance to 619 people in 111 families, the project sponsors a party at the Franklin Children's Home and the Milton Wright Home and donates $100 in cash to each institution. The annual Christmas project represents approximately $20,000 in cash, food and clothing.

C. Price Oylor, Ph.M. 3/C, has reported to Beach Battalion school, Ocean Side, California, after spending a 30-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Oylor, 414 York street. Price recently returned home after spending twenty months overseas taking part in beach landings in Africa, Sicily, Italy, Corsica and Southern France.

The promotion to major of Captain Roy W. Gifford, Oak Ridge has been announced.

Major Gifford, a medical officer with the 1322nd Service unit, is assistant chief of surgical service at the Fort George G. Meade regional hospital, one of the two in the Third Service Command.

He entered the army September 4, 1942; has attended the University of Pittsburgh and the Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia. He was assistant surgeon at the Warner hospital before entering service.

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics administration projects, including $46,667,000 for 271 airport construction and improvement projects in Pennsylvania, has been recommended to Congress.

Five classes of airports are involved: Class 1, primarily for private flying; Class 2, for feeder airlines and private flying; Class 3, suitable for present-day twin engine planes; Class 4, suitable for four-engine and other large planes; Class 5, for long range domestic and foreign operation.

Gettysburg is proposed as the site for an airport primarily for private flying and an individual project for feeder airlines and private flying with an appropriation of $263,000.

Richard Bircher, owner-operator of the Gettysburg airport, says he does not know of any plans for a new airport here and that he had not been contacted with reference to use or enlargement of his airport.

Damage estimated at nearly $500 was caused by fire Friday morning when a kerosene stove exploded in the kitchen of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harner, Gettysburg R. 1, a half mile west of Barlow.

Barlow firemen had the flames under control when members of the Gettysburg company, summoned about 8:45 o'clock arrived.

Today's Talk

BE YOUR AGE — HAPPILY

Oldsters have had their youth, so they know a great deal about it. They should rejoice in the healthy, happy youth about them. It's a reflection of what they have already experienced. The ways of youth today should not scare one. They will work out all right if properly guided.

Youth is always inspiring because it is such a thrilling, adventure. It is not without its disappointments, sorrows and struggles, however. But there is light all around it. Dreams stream in and out. It owns world after world! It's the undefeated age. It can't envy the years ahead, or at least ought not to — they will come soon enough. So, you who are young, live your age and glory in it — happily.

We, who have reached the middle years and beyond, have our memories — youth plus all the maturity and experience that keep moulding and modeling life. We, too, should be our age, without envy or complaint. Ours are the precious years of achievement and judgment. Years of increased knowledge of the world and of life. Years with the enlarged horizon. Ripening years. Harvest years.

Every age has both its glitter and its gold. Every age has its rewards. That's what gives us our pride in them. It is possible for each one of us to season our lives with beauty and a sense of satisfaction, from youth to advanced age. But we must gladly, and unweeping, be our age, at all times, no matter what it may be. Nature creates no false faces. It resents an alibi.

As we advance into the more mature years we can put away the "childish things" the Apostle spoke about, we can still carry in our heart much of the child. It is this that keeps us gentle, clean of mind, sympathetic, and hopeful. And it keeps enlarging our understanding.

Each age has its absorbing interests, too, and these interests overlap from age to age, giving a uniform joy to life. Said Amiel, in his Journal, "To know how to grow old is the master-work of wisdom, and one of the most difficult chapters in the great art of living." Why not just carry each age's inheritance along with us as day is added to day?

CHRISTMAS GREETING

Words are difficult to find
To improve the Christmas greeting

So today from heart and mind
'Tis the old wish I'm repeating:

May the home from door to rafters
Glow with love and ring with laughter.

Green the leaf and red the berry.
Time has never changed the holiday.

May the Christmas Day be merry
And may young and old be jolly!

Same old wish and same old holiday!
Changing either would be folly.

Merry Christmas! Two words only,
But how much to all expressing!

Peace and comfort for the lonely;
Rest from every care distressing;

Windows decked with candles lighted;
Family in love united.

Eyes of children brightly glowing;
Faith to soothe the ache of sorrow;

God to all His mercy showing;

The entire population of Willow Creek and Hoopa, in the heart of an Indian reservation, took refuge in the high school gymnasium on high ground.

Pepperwood, population 500, is gone — nothing visible but a few tree tops above the sea of water, air observers reported.

In Garberville, three pregnant women were reported in labor and in need of medical care. Civil defense officials have written off the flood communities of South Fork, Myers Flat, Stafford and Weott, whose residents fled Tuesday.

LIVE ON ISLAND

Since 5 a.m. Wednesday the 2-500 inhabitants of Guerneville have lived on an island in the midst of the swirling Russian River. In the Little Stork Club saloon rescuers and flood victims stood knee-deep in muddy water toasting each other and making jokes about the sign reading "No Dancing Allowed."

Further north, near the coastal city of Eureka, about 1,000 refugees, including women and small children, stood on high sections of U.S. 101 waving to helicopters that rushed in with relief supplies.

3 BOWL GAMES ARE BOOKED OVER WEEKEND

By MURRAY CHASS

Wayne Hardin and Ara Parseghian have their Heisman Trophy winning quarterbacks—Roger Staubach and John Huarte—for one more game, but Hardin and the South have Bob Hayes and Jerry Rhyme, too.

That added duo could provide the difference Friday in the North-South all-star college football game at Miami, one of three post-season contests scheduled for this holiday weekend.

Georgia and Texas Tech clash in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., Saturday while the Blue and the Gray all-star teams meet at Montgomery Ala.

VETERAN COACHES

Hardin, who recently resigned as coach at Navy where he had Staubach for three years, is one of the coaches of the star-studded South squad.

Parseghian, who helped pull Huarte from the ranks of obscurity to the Heisman Trophy, coaches the North along with Paul Dietzel of Army. Hardin's archival for three years.

Staubach, along with Tulsa's Rhyme, will have an unusually speedy target in Hayes, the Florida A&M flash who is receiving his first crack at major competition.

The North spent 1½ hours Wednesday on ways of stopping the double gold medalist.

"They'll complete some passes on us, but our main concern is to stop them from getting the long bomb," Parseghian said.

Dietzel and Parseghian hope to offset Hayes' potential with Herman Johnson of Michigan State, a defensive specialist who has range, speed and size needed to stop the South end.

Georgia will have a problem of its own in the Sun Bowl. The Bulldogs must stop Donnie Anderson, third-best rusher in the nation who also caught 32 passes for 396 yards. He ran for 966 yards, an average of 4.6 yards per carry.

LIKES TO RUN

Georgia has no one to match Anderson, but quarterback Preston Riddlehuber likes to run with the ball. In fact, he set a school record this season for yards gained rushing by a T formation signal-caller.

The Blue and Gray squads, meanwhile, finished up their workouts today with Blue Coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota and Gray Coach Paul Davis of Mississippi State both optimistic.

The big bowl weekend comes next week with the Rose, Cotton, Orange and Sugar Bowls set for Friday and the Gator Bowl and East-West game scheduled for Saturday.

Bullet Gridders Honored By Bisons

Ken Snyder, Gettysburg College flanker back, was the unanimous choice of Bucknell football players for their all-opponent team in 1964. However, due to his pass receiving ability, Snyder was placed at end.

Honorable mentions were given to Ron Brentzel, guard; Bob Furney, center, and Jim Ward, quarterback.

Gettysburg defeated Bucknell 12-7 in its second game of the season.

JURIST BACKS POLICE LINEUP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal judge has denied a permanent injunction against placing two men in a police "lineup" and the city plans to resume the use of this means of identification, a city official says.

The city had suspended the use of "lineups" after a temporary injunction was issued last May 19 preventing police from placing two men in a lineup for possible identification on rape charges. The American Civil Liberties Union, which helped obtain that injunction, contended it was a violation of the rights of the men to be placed in a lineup before any guilty was determined.

Deputy City Solicitor Matthew W. Bullock Jr. said Wednesday the "lineup" system is "a matter of police enforcement of the law by having reasonable arrangements where alleged victims can view the suspects."

Judge Abraham L. Freedman ruled Wednesday against a permanent injunction but continued the May 19 temporary injunction. He said this would give the two men sufficient protection from a compulsory lineup.

Bullock said Freedman's decision leaves the city no opportunity for appeal to a higher court.

SPORTLIGHT

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Time: Christmas Eve. Place: The cellar of Madison Square Garden.

Gathered are all the members of the New York Loser's Club: The baseball Mets, the football Jets, the Rochester Knicks, the hockey Rangers, and the new boy in the cellar, the football Giants.

Mr. Met, the chairman speaks:

"Before we sing our annual carol, 'Rudolph the Sore-armed Pitcher,' and give out the presents, I'd like to welcome back a member of our club who has gone astray the last three seasons. I mean, of course, the good old football Giants, who finished a crashing last this year.

Y. A. GOT OLD

ALL: Hear, hear.

Mr. Giant: Ah, it was nothing fellows. Y. A. Tittle got old, and Alie made some trades that made Jack and the Beanstalk look like David Harum. But it's nice to be back. Merry Christmas.

Mr. Ranger: Hope you stick around for a long time, fella. I saw your last game and the chances are good. It grows on you down here. Look at me, I haven't been in the Stanley Cup since it was known as the Livestone Bowl.

Mr. Jet: Sure, nothing succeeds in this town like failure. Look at the Mets and us, we got a fancy new park and we fill it all the time. And we've never played 500 ball in our lives.

Mr. Knick: I don't even play 300. I've been in the cellar since the center jump. But things are looking up a little. I get this fellow Bill Bradley from Princeton next year.

GOING TO OXFORD

Mr. Jet: You dope, he's going to Oxford.

Mr. Knick: Whatdaya mean? I got territorial rights to him in the draft. I always get first pick, for finishing last. And Oxford ain't even in the league.

Mr. Ranger: Bradley won a Rhodes Scholarship. He goes over to Oxford for two years. And just in time, if you ask me. If you'd drafted him before he left he probably couldn't have made the Oxford team, and they don't even have one.

Mr. Met: Well, that's life in the cellar. Them as hasn't, doesn't get. Now it's time to pass around the presents. Here's one for each of you.

All: Just what we always wanted! New York Yankees dolls.

Mr. Met: Right, and you each have a pin to stick in your doll. Now when Mel Allen gives the word, let's all stick our pin in the Yankees, who won the pennant for the 14th time in the last 16 years.

Allen: How about that?

2 GRID TITLES ARE AT STAKE OVER WEEKEND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weather looms large over the two pro football title games this weekend, which wound up by coincidence in a pair of stadia on the Great Lakes where winter usually hits harder than Jimmy Brown.

The American Football League settles its championship first, with the defending champion San Diego Chargers visiting the Buffalo Bills Saturday afternoon.

The next day, Johnny Unitas leads the Baltimore Colts, Western Division champs, against the Cleveland Browns, the Eastern winners, in the National Football League's title struggle.

FULL HOUSES

A full house of about 41,000 is due at Buffalo Saturday, with 83,000 expected in the big Cleveland Stadium Sunday.

Despite the fact that temperatures in the 30s are about the best that can be hoped for in either city, both games could have sold out twice.

The NFL's title game has been played in a deep freeze for the last three years—Green Bay, New York and Chicago—and with the Cleveland site this year has revived suggestions that the title game be moved regularly to some place with more balmy December weather.

The chances of that seem slim.

MUCH APPRECIATION

"Every time it is mentioned I get a flood of letters opposing it," says NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

San Diego took the AFL title last year in California, 51-10, over the Boston Patriots. Veteran Tobin Rote was the quarterback in that game and will be playing his last game for the Chargers on Saturday.

This year John Hadl may be at quarterback. If Hadl runs the club and wins he will be the first championship quarterback the AFL has ever had who did not play in the older NFL first.

Jackie Kemp, the Buffalo quarterback, has an NFL background and also played for San Diego before the Chargers let him get away to Buffalo for $100.

FAVOR BILLS

The Bills are a slight choice. Units and the Colts are the favorites in the NFL game, despite the crunching rushing of fullback Brown for Cleveland.

"I'm worried about the weather," Brown says. "A runner has to have the right conditions. It's a shame that weather plays such an important part in such a big game."

This is the first NFL title game for the Colts since they won a pair in 1958-59.

The Browns, once perennial title contenders, have not played for the championship since 1957, when they were bombed by Detroit.

ACES LEAD CAGE POLL

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All signs point to another devastating season and another national small-college basketball championship for the Evansville Aces from Indiana.

With Larry Humes showing the way, the Aces whipped Louisiana State last Saturday for their fifth straight major opponents. This gave them an over-all winning streak of 11, including a carryover of six from last season.

In fact, the Aces have a record of 26-1 in their last 27 games. That defeat was at the hands of Notre Dame and the Aces already have turned the tables on the Irish this season.

NO. 1 TEAM

It is no surprise therefore that the Aces were named the No. 1 team Wednesday in The Associated Press small-college poll for the third straight week.

They polled 11 of 12 first-place votes cast by an AP panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The only dissenting vote went to High Point.

The Aces thus missed a perfect total of 120 points by just one point. The Grambling Tigers from Louisiana, unbeaten through Dec. 21 like Evansville and High Point, retained second place with a total of 85 points on the basis of 19 for first place, nine for second, etc.

Rounding out the top ten were Winston-Salem, N.C.; Pan-American, Tex.; Wittenberg, Ohio; Fresno State, Calif.; Southern Illinois; High Point; Akron, and Youngstown, Ohio.

PRIVATE BURIAL

BERNARDSVILLE, N.J. (AP) —Funeral services will be held Saturday in Basking Ridge Presbyterian Church for Robert M. Jarvis, the oldest surviving member of Lafayette College's class of 1902.

Jarvis died Tuesday at the age of 85. He was a real estate man and a former head of a warehousing business.

Burial will be private.

Set Archery Deer Season Jan. 4-9

HARRISBURG (AP) — A special extended archery deer season will be held in Allegheny County and Southeastern Pennsylvania Jan. 4-9, the Game Commission announced Wednesday.

Only hunters who did not kill a deer during the regular rifle or bow seasons in 1964 will be eligible to participate, the commission said. Any deer will be legal.

The area in Southeastern Pennsylvania which will be included in the special season is bounded on the north by Route 22, on the west by the Susquehanna River, and on the east by the Delaware river.

BEARCATS WIN FIFTH BATTLE ON WEDNESDAY

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

This will be a happy Christmas for Ed Jucker, the basketball coach at the University of Cincinnati.

His Bearcats, who won the national collegiate championship in 1961 and 1962 and just missed an unprecedented third straight crown in 1963, are on the way back. They didn't qualify for the NCAA championship tournament last season.

Jucker's boys won their fifth straight Wednesday night with a 71-56 home-court victory over Oregon State. Five baskets in quick succession by sophomore Jerry Cousins broke a 41-41 tie and the Beavers never caught up.

HAVE 4-1 RECORD

The Bearcats now boast a 6-1 record. They beat George Washington in their opener, then lost to Miami of Ohio. Since then they have swept Louisville, Kansas, Centenary, Denver and Oregon State. Their next game is a first-round game against Temple Monday night in the Holiday Festival at New York, a tournament in which they might encounter top-ranked Michigan.

Michigan warmed up for its first game against Manhattan by crushing Butler 99-81. A crowd of 8,000 packed the Yost Fieldhouse at Ann Arbor to watch the Wolverines chalk up their sixth victory in seven starts. Cazzie Russell scored 21 points and Bill Buntin 19.

FRISCO UNBEATEN

The fifth-ranked San Francisco Dons, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, made it six straight against no defeats by defeating Utah State 86-71. Big Ollie Johnson, with 28 points and 22 rebounds, led the Dons in their easy victory at San Francisco.

Villanova and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia also stayed in the unbeaten class and upped their records to 7-0. Villanova crushed St. Francis, Pa. 101-58 at Altoona and the Hawks downed Bowling Green 60-54 in the opener of a doubleheader at Philadelphia. Temple whipped Pennsylvania 73-59 in the nightcap of the twin bill at the Palestra.

ARMY IS BOOED

Army, on its way to next week's Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., was booed at Dayton, Ohio, in losing to the Flyers 41-33. The Cadets played a ball-control game that aroused the fans' ire.

Taylor Locke, the Army coach, said afterwards that he sympathized with the fans because "this type of game is no fun to watch." He explained he employed the ball-control tactic to help protect the injured ankle of Mike Silliman, the Cadets' star.

The Murray State Thoroughbreds, beaten last week in the final of the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., won the Ohio Valley Conference holiday tournament by defeating Western Kentucky 77-68 at Louisville.

$186,000 IS SAVED NAVY

WASHINGTON (AP)—An investigation of the Navy's Aviation Supply Office at Philadelphia has saved taxpayers $186,000, the General Accounting Office said Wednesday in a report to Congress.

The report by Comptroller General Joseph Campbell said the supply office planned to buy 95 sets used to test electronic equipment in March, 1963. In computing its needs, the report continued, the office had given no consideration to other test equipment already on hand which could partly meet the needs.

Campbell said that when the matter was brought to the Navy attention, plans to purchase 59 of the test sets were canceled. This amounted to a saving of $186,000, he said.

He said the tests sets already available were overlooked by the supply office because they were not included on equipment allowance lists.

3 AFL PLAYERS LEAD ASSAULT ON LOOP MARKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Gino Cappelletti, Boston's premier pointmaker, and the super-charged Houston battery of George Blanda and Charley Hennigan led an assault on the American Football League record book in 1964.

Cappelletti, The Associated Press' AFL Player of the Year, broke his own all-time scoring mark while Blanda's pitching and Hennigan's catching established three single-season aerial records, final league figures reveal.

The Patriots' place kicker passed receiver scored seven touchdowns, booted 25 field goals and accounted for 37 points after touchdown for a total of 155 points, eight more than his previous league high, set in 1961.

101 RECEPTIONS

Hennigan's 101 pass receptions topped by one the all-pro mark set by Denver's Lionel Taylor three years ago. Blanda, the Oilers' 36-year-old signal caller, smashed season records for pass attempts, 505, and completions, 262. Denver passer Frank Tripucka had set marks of 478 and 248 in 1960.

Kansas City's Len Dawson threw less than Blanda but made his tosses pay off in the league's efficiency ratings. Dawson received the top grade of 58 points, based on completion percentage, yards gained, touchdowns, etc. and won the passing crown for the second time in three seasons.

PACED LEAGUE

He paced the league with a 56.2 completion mark and flipped 30 scoring passes, one less than league-leader Babe Parilli of Boston.

Cookie Gilchrist of the Eastern champion Buffalo Bills, regained the rushing title he lost to Oakland's Clem Daniels last season. Cookie rambled for 981 yards, finishing 36 yards in front of New York rookie Matt Snell. Daniels came on after a slow start and wound up third with 823 yards.

SCORES 83 IN LAST 2 GAMES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elgin Baylor, his leg trouble apparently a thing of the past, is looking like the Baylor of old these days.

The evidence: 83 points in his last two games.

Baylor collected 43 points Wednesday night in leading the Los Angeles Lakers to a 135-117 National Basketball Association victory over the Philadelphia 76ers.

It was his best performance since March of 1963 when he contributed 46 points to the Lakers' cause.

He got strong help Wednesday from LeRoy Ellis and Jim King. Together with Baylor, they served to make up for the loss of stars Jerry West and Rudy LaRusso—both sidelined with back injuries.

Ellis put in 23 points and King 22.

The victory boosted Los Angeles' Western Division lead to 2½ games over St. Louis, which was idle, as was the rest of the NBA.

HEAVY LOSSES AS RAIN, WIND SLAPS NATION

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Torrential rains, whipped along on gale force winds, continued to sweep across four Pacific Northwest state Wednesday, imperiling scores of cities and towns and causing millions of dollars of damage.

Six persons have died and three rescuers were missing in the two-day storm that forced at least 5,000 persons to flee before the raging waters of a dozen flood-swollen mountain rivers.

A helicopter with three Coast Guardsmen aboard was missing after evacuating 10 people off an island in California's Eel River.

Federal, state, and local disaster units worked frantically through the night in 65-mile-an-hour winds to complete evacuation of whole towns as the storm raged. The Weather Bureau predicted no let up today. Another storm, about 700 miles off the coast, was expected to bring more rain by Christmas, the Weather Bureau forecast.

California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown at midday declared four northwestern counties disaster areas and appealed for federal assistance. Five other hard-hit northern counties sent urgent pleas for the state capitol for relief.

In Oregon, Gov. Mark Hatfield issued the disaster call and placed the National Guard on alert.

CALLS OUT GUARD

Gov. Grant Sawyer called out the Nevada National Guard to help workmen sandbag storefronts in downtown Reno as the Truckee River's flood waters spilled out of the Sierra into the heart of town.

Idaho's National Guardsmen were put on emergency duty by Gov. Robert E. Smylie, and 50 men were rushed to the beleaguered town of Bancroft in the southeastern part of the state.

Natural disaster seemed the order of the day. San Diego was hit by an earthquake, causing panic in the downtown area and widespread, but minor, damage. Four drownings were blamed on the storm in Oregon. Dr. Robert Dickson, 60, of Chinook, Mont., drowned when the bridge over Interstate 80N gave way and he was thrown into the John Day River. Edward Kilgore, 48, of Sutherlin, Ore., and Ella Cox, 65, of Roseburg, Ore. were carried away by the overflow of Calapooya Creek after they fled their stranded car. An unidentified child perished in a car that ran into a washout in a canyon southeast of The Dalles, state police reported.

Most major rivers continued to rise and were over flood stage late Tuesday night. Only Interstate 5 remained open, and highway officials feared it would be two or three days before opened.

All rail traffic was disrupted. Southern Pacific's line in the Cascade Mountains was blocked by a mudslide; the Union Pacific line was blocked at two points by washouts.

Numerous smaller towns were isolated by blocked roads and severed telephone lines. The $24-million John Day bridge, only a year old, was among the many bridges washed out.

Chiffonade salad dressing is often found on the menus of fine hotel restaurants. Why not make it at home? You can do so by adding finely chopped hardcooked egg and cooked beets to French dressing.

OLD-FASHIONED XMAS HELD BY 12 ISLANDERS

By KENNETH H. MORRISON

MONHEGAN ISLAND, Maine (AP) — Dreaming of the quaint Christmas celebration of yesterday — far from jostling crowds, traffic jams and Santas here, there and everywhere?

If so, take a boat to Monhegan Island where Christmas has the old-fashioned, sprightly charm of a Grandma Moses painting.

Monhegan, wearing a winter cover of clean snow, is a sun-glint in the sea 15 miles off Maine.

In summer, the island bustles with artists, summer residents and tourists. In winter the population shrinks to two dozen. The islanders celebrate Christmas like a large, close family.

ATTEND SERVICE

Christmas Eve adults and children will set out from their homes across the snow toward the village's non-denominational church, a 100-year-old white clapboard structure, aglow with gaslight and kerosene lamps.

"Everyone who can walk and even the babies who can't walk will be there," says Pastor Gertrude Anderson, a former missionary to the Belgian Congo and Burma.

The islanders come bearing baskets of gifts which they exchange.

At church, there will be readings of the Scriptures, carol singing and an appearance by Santa Claus, not to mention the decorating of the community Christmas tree.

How do you go about Christmas shopping when you're 15 miles at sea?

Some folk go to the mainland on the boat which runs to the island three days a week from Port Clyde. Small items may be picked up in the village. Mostly, shopping is done through mail order catalogs.

What happens if on the day before Christmas you find you're missed someone on your list?

Too bad. There's no boat on Thursday.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI will light the huge statue of Christ atop the 2,300-foot Corcovado hill overlooking Rio de Janeiro bay by pushing an electronic device in his studio New Year's Eve, Vatican sources said Wednesday.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman and his wife are in New York to spend Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Clifton Daniel, and her family.

Taneytown

TANEYTOWN — Christmas services at St. Joseph's Church will begin with High Mass at midnight Christmas Eve and continue with Masses in the morning at 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Sunday Masses will be as usual. Masses on January 1, New Year's Day, will be at 9 and 11 a.m.

"The Pathfinder," a color movie, will be shown Saturday afternoon, January 2, in St. Joseph's Hall, 1:30 o'clock. Movies will be shown every Saturday to provide wholesome entertainment to the people, both children and adults, of the community. Price of tickets will be 35c for children under 13 years and 50c for adults. The public is invited.

The annual Girls' 4-H Christmas party was held Thursday at the home of Linis Welty. After a short business meeting Mrs. Patricia Stabler, extension agent, discussed party games for 4-H groups. New members to the club are Sandra Six, Teresa Zent and Susan Miller. After gifts were exchanged, refreshments were served by Mrs. Paul Morelock. The mothers present were Mrs. Earle K. Stonessifer, organizational leader; Mrs. Ralph Kelly, Mrs. Preston Hommerbocker, Mrs. Harold Anders and our hostess, Mrs. Paul Morelock.

PLEDGE $5,495 TO SWIM POOL

TANEYTOWN—A total of $5,495 has been pledged to the $60,000 Community Swimming Pool project, Argyle Kauffman and Harry Dougherty Jr. reported at a recent meeting of the executive committee. A list of donors will be published in January.

Mrs. Dean Brown, admissions committee chairman, proposed a family season ticket plan for donors contributing $50 or more. Tickets will be distributed early in the new year and will not be transferrable, the committee decided. Groups and individuals contributing $500 or more will be entitled to receive admission tickets ranging from three to 10 years, depending upon the amount of the contribution. Mrs. John M. Skiles and Mrs. Kaufman reviewed plans for the house-to-house canvass, scheduled for the week of January 10-17. Twenty-seven areas have been established with 41 volunteer solicitors, who will meet with the executive committee January 6 at 8 p.m. in the firemen's building.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government today announced the liquidation of another organizational scheme inherited from former Premier Khrushchev. A brief official bulletin invalidated the 1953 decree setting up the central Asian economic region.

Tree For Partridge Perch Costs $300; Birds $5 Each

By DAVE SMITH
LOS ANGELES (AP) — If you have more money than ideas left over from Christmas shopping and still can't find something for someone who has everything, try gathering complete props for the carol "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

Don't rush in blindly, because this gift costs to the tune of five figures. But you could be the only one on your block to bestow such a remembrance.

Forthwith, then, the instructions: "On the first day of Christmas, my true love gave to me, a partridge in a pear tree," goes the first verse.

In Los Angeles, the going big enough for a partridge perch is $300. Live partridges go for $10 a pair but you only need one.

TURTLE DOVES $25
After getting the basic prop, the pear tree, you need:
Two turtledoves. Authentic European turtledoves can be had for $25 a pair. If your neighborhood bird importer is fresh out, add $1,000-$1,500 for the cost of the trip to get them.

Three French hens.
Four colly birds. Historically, the term "colly bird" refers to the European blackbird, so you can pick these up along with the turtledoves and French hens, unless you want to take poetic license and settle for plain old crows.

GOLD RINGS EASY
Five gold rings. You can lay out quite a pile for these, but you aren't far along the list, so settle for the five-and-dime variety.

Six geese a-laying. On this item, timing is very important. Intermittent laying — an egg here, an egg there — has ruined this gift more than once.

Seven swans a-swimming. Black swans are $300 a pair, white ones $200. If you need a pool, add $2,000.

MILK MAIDS RARE
Eight maids a-milking. Now here you have a problem. There are few milkmaid rental agencies left. As for eight cows, those sell for $200 or so each.

Nine drummers drumming. The musicians union will provide these for $360 for three and a half hours.

Ten pipers piping.
Eleven ladies dancing. These can be had through the American Guild of Variety Artists, prices varying according to whether you prefer tap, modern or classical ballet.

Twelve lords a-leaping. Here again, a problem. Lords are generally pretty strong on dignity. A few act as tour guides for their English estates, and a few will even do a buck-wing for a couple extra quid — but 12? Well, it's worth a try.

If all fails, or you run out of time, buy a necktie.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles Hensen, 48, Philadelphia, died Tuesday night in Frankford Hospital from burns received when a machine exploded Monday at the Atlantic Metals Corp. Three other workers were knocked down and another burned when a machine in which aluminum oxide was being burned blew up.

M'CONNELL TO BE NEW CHIEF OF AIR FORCE

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, heading into the new year with bright prospects for a new giant plane of hemisphere-spanning range, will get a new commander Feb. 1.

Emerging from a meeting with President Johnson in Texas Tuesday, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced:

—Gen. John P. McConnell, 56, will become the new chief of staff of the Air Force when Gen. Curtis E. LeMay retires Feb. 1. McConnell, now vice chief of staff of the Air Force, is a strategic warfare expert.

PLAN ENORMOUS PLANE

—The Air Force proposal for a start on blueprinting a plane so enormous as to dwarf the largest now flying has been approved by McNamara and Johnson. The sky giant would be designed to carry 600 men or 250 tons of cargo great distances.

Funds for beginning development of the C5A will be included in the new military budget. Everything about the big plane is on a grand scale. Just to decide on the exact design, then design it, test it and build some experimental models will cost about $750 million; to build 58 such planes in a production program — which would constitute three squadrons — would cost about $1 billion, in addition to the development.

McNamara, talking to newsmen at Johnson City, Tex., seemed confident that the first experimental model would be flying in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1968. A contract to begin actual development could come in the next six or seven months.

6,000 MILE NON-STOP

The concept for the C5A is an extremely long-range, large-cargo aircraft to provide true global air mobility — a craft that will fly nonstop for more than 6,000 miles and be able to unload 600 men or 250 tons of cargo at destinations approaching this range, depending on load-fuel factors.

The Air Force says it would be subsonic in speed, probably about 550 miles an hour.

McNamara took pains to dissociate the C5A project from the nonmilitary project for development of a supersonic commercial transport. The C5A would lift far more people over

RED CHAUFFEUR FREE ON BAIL OF $100,000

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Igor Ivanov, sentenced to 20 years in prison for his part in an espionage conspiracy, was freed Wednesday in $100,000 bail pending appeal of his conviction.

The Russian chauffeur, 34, was brought to federal court here from the Hudson County Jail, Jersey City, where he was held following his sentencing last Friday.

Bail of $100,000 had been granted Ivanov last December, a month after his arrest, but was revoked by U.S. Judge Anthony Augelli Friday. The money was posted by the Soviet Embassy. The original bail money was reappalled today.

DOBRYNIN APPEAL

The bail was set Tuesday by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals. Ivanov's attorney presented a letter from Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. The letter guaranteed Ivanov's appearance in court.

peals in Philadelphia after Ivanov's attorney presented a letter from Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. The letter guaranteed Ivanov's appearance in court.

Ivanov and John W. Butenko, an American electronics engineer from Orange, were convicted by a federal jury of conspiring to transmit U.S. Air Force secrets to the Soviet Union. Butenko was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Butenko has been held without bail since his arrest in an Englewood railway station in October, 1963. Ivanov was arrested at the same time.

Drop Extortion Charge In Reading

READING, Pa. (AP) — An extortion charge against former Mayor Daniel F. McDevitt has been dismissed by the Berks County Court.

McDevitt initiated a habeas Corpus action in his own behalf, and the action was upheld on grounds of insufficient evidence. A two-time state congressman, McDevitt was defeated in the Democratic primary election in his bid for a third term.

McDevitt, who served as mayor from 1956-59, was charged in connection with an alleged $2,000 kickback in the 1959 sale of three fire engines from the Mack Truck Co. to the city for $80,000.

NEIGHBORS AID UNPAID MAYOR WITHOUT JOB

MARLBORO, N.J. (AP) — "I guess Santa Claus will get to our house after all," this township's unsalaried mayor said Tuesday.

Mayor Walter C. Grubb Jr. won election last summer on a campaign platform which included a promise not to accept a salary. The mayor of this Monmouth County community of 8,000 usually received $1,000 a year.

LOSES JOB

Last July, a month after he was sworn in, and six days after his wife gave birth to their sixth child, Grubb was laid off his job as an electronics engineer with the Radio Corp. of America.

Because of various technicalities Grubb had to go through three elections before he was certified as mayor. When he lost his paying job he declared "after all those elections, you can bet I won't move from this township until I get the job done that I promised all these people who voted for me."

So Grubb, 38, began job hunting while the family lived on his layoff pay, savings, and a $50-a-week unemployment check.

NEIGHBORS HELPED

"The local people were wonderful. Farmers even brought produce and things to the house," Grubb said. Well-wishers across the country sent him

HARVE TAYLOR GETS PA. JOB

HARRISBURG (AP)—Former State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor is the newly appointed broker of record for state-purchased insurance, at an annual salary of $15,000.

Taylor, 88-year-old Harrisburg Republican who for 18 years was president pro tempore of the Senate, was named by Gov. Scranton Tuesday to replace Clayton Moul, York Democrat, who had held the job since 1955.

Scranton announced Taylor's appointment in a statement reporting that $71,534 in commissions on insurance was turned over to the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency for student loans.

Scranton, who is responsible for eliminating the old practice of distribution of the commissions to politically favored insurance brokers, said that the loan fund has been enriched by $150,000 under his administration.

Finally, on Dec. 14, Grubb started a full-time, paying job as an engineer, but he didn't tell anyone.

The secret came out Monday night at a Township Council meeting when a resident congratulated the mayor. A number of constituents knew about the mayor's secret, it developed.

"I had wanted to keep it quiet a little while longer," the mayor explained, adding "I wanted to get adjusted to my new job before achieving any notoriety in it."

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — The Israeli Parliament approved Premier Levi Eshkol's new Cabinet Tuesday night by a vote of 59-36.

LBJ REPORTERS GET GOLD GIFTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is sending 14-karat gold souvenirs as Christmas presents to reporters who traveled with him during the 1964 presidential campaign.

The women are receiving a charm bracelet medallion, a little smaller than a half dollar, with the presidential seal and on the rim the initials LBJ and 1964 flanking the silhouette of a jet plane.

A gold tie clasp in the shape of a jet plane, bearing the same initials and year, is being sent to men reporters.

With each goes a card saying: "As one of my most energetic fellow-travelers, I wanted you to have a warm remembrance of our campaign trail. With warm holiday greetings, Lyndon B. Johnson."

DISAGREE ON STATURE OF PARTY CHIEF

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sound and fury of a violent political storm rages over the head of a young man who was almost unknown a year ago — Dean Burch, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

It's an imposing title that Burch, 36, carries. But what does it mean? Is the party chairman a man of power — a gray eminence lurking behind the throne — or is he simply an administrator or figurehead?

One former national chairman, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, sees the national committee chairman as a party housekeeper and not worth any "bloodletting" in the Republican dispute.

SMYLIE DISAGREES

Not so, says Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho. One of the leaders of the Burch-must-go forces in the GOP, Smylie says the way things are now the national chairman is neither "a mere figurehead, nor a housekeeper."

"Smylie doesn't know anything about the national chairman's job," retorts William E. Miller, who was Barry Goldwater's running mate and Burch's predecessor as party chairman.

Generally, the job of chairman is to keep the party machinery oiled and humming between elections, to see to it that money is raised, to cool off party feuds and to rally the troops during campaigns.

FULL-TIME JOB

Many chairmen have been little more than front men who have tuxedo, will travel. Most have been noted political figures working part time at it. Burch, protege of Goldwater, is a full-time chairman with a $30,000-a-year salary.

One thing to keep in mind in trying to define the duties of a chairman is that time, events, the pressure cooker of politics and the man himself all have a hand in molding the job.

For instance, the chairman of a party out of power, such as Burch, must function differently from the chairman of a party in power, such as the Democrats' John M. Bailey.

KEY TO BATTLE

Bailey must labor in the shadow and under the orders of the unquestioned supreme commander of the Democratic party, President Johnson.

And this is a key to the present GOP battle crackling around Burch.

With no president to answer to, will he step into a vacuum of leadership, tighten his control of party machinery and reinforce a conservative image that GOP liberals and moderates feel will destroy the party?

"As the months wear on," Smylie said of Burch at the recent GOP governors meeting in Denver, Colo., "the present chairman will tend ever more strongly to create and solidify the image of a party that the people would not use."

Santa May Encounter Jam In Space-ways Over Cape

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—When Santa Claus makes his chimney-to-chimney goodwill journey Thursday night he may find that space resembles a freeway at rush hour.

He might be wise to equip his sleigh with control jets or retro-rockets so he and his reindeer can maneuver through the jam of fast-moving satellites and "space junk" orbited by man.

The latest count shows there are 297 man-made objects racing through space at altitudes from 100 miles to several million miles.

SCATTERED FRAGMENTS

These are satellites, dead and alive; burned out rocket casings, and fragments of metal which have fallen off satellites or rockets. They are widely scattered and Santa should have little trouble weaving around them.

But he'd better have his radar on the alert for a cluster of 202 small fragments which are orbiting close together. They are the fallout from a U.S. Transit navigation satellite rocket which disintegrated in 1961.

NEEDLE DETOUR

If Santa doesn't want to become a pincushion, he'd detour around the band of Project West Ford space needles. These are 400 million hair-thin copper wires, called dipoles, launched in 1962 in a communications experiment. They are about 2,000 miles up and form a continuous north-to-south belt around the earth about five miles wide and 25 miles thick.

The orbiting objects are what remain of more than 600 pieces of hardware — excluding the needles and Transit debris — shot into space by the United States and Soviet Union since Sputnik 1 was launched Oct. 4, 1957.

259 ARE AMERICAN

Of the larger pieces still aloft, 259 belong to the United States,

ANITA SPENDS YULE AT HOME

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Eight-year-old Anita Crane's Christmas began early on Wednesday — she left West Jersey Hospital to spend the holiday at home cheered by doctors' report that she now has a better than 50-50 chance of keeping her right leg. Anita left her home last Oct. 9, to play with friends. A few minutes later she slipped under a moving freight train and a wheel nearly severed the leg. Since then she has been a patient

38 to the U.S.S.R.

Thirty of the American satellites still are beeping signals — transmitting weather pictures, communications signals, military information and a wealth of data on secrets of the universe.

The Russians don't say how many of their satellites are operating. They do say that their Zond-2 is beeping along toward Mars — as is the U.S. Mariner 4.

The figures reflect the greater number of successful American space shots. Since the space age began, the United States has orbited 236 earth satellites, six solar satellites and hit the moon three times. The Soviets have launched 76 successful earth satellites, five sun vehicles and hit the moon once. The United States has sent six astronauts into space; the Soviets have orbited nine.

Newspaper Adds Arsonist Reward

CHAMBERSBURG — A $100 reward was offered Tuesday by the Public Opinion, for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person responsible for Thursday's $250,000 fire in West King and North Main Sts.

This brings the reward total to $300. A $200 reward was posted Monday by M. H. Rehrig, operator of the King Street Cycle Shop, where the fire started.

Firemen say the blaze originated in a frame storage building to the rear of the cycle shop. It destroyed two storerooms, leveled three storage buildings and damaged apartments.

at the hospital while doctors tried to save it.

FACES MORE OPERATIONS

Anita will stay home until Monday, when she will return to the hospital for additional grafting operations. These may take another six months to a year.

Her plight brought nationwide attention, including a visit from Gov. Richard Hughes. She gave him a big kiss and a hug. President Johnson's secretary also wrote, conveying the President's best wishes for recovery.

Through numerous bone and skin grafting operations Anita has been a brave, uncomplaining patient, say her doctors. At home, her leg in a cast, Anita will spend Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crane and her four brothers and two sisters, who range in age from three to 10 years old.

BOY GIVES UP FAVORITE TOY IN YULE SPIRIT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christmas 1964 comes to America in many ways.

It comes in the appeal of a child — Bobby Panichelle, 5-year-old Philadelphia boy, heeded the plea of his brother, Stephen, 7, to give up his favorite stuffed poodle for a collection for the poor. Bobby agreed, but got in the last word, as shown in this letter Stephen placed with their toys:

ASKS RETURN

"These are my toys and they are old but they are in good condition so I would like you to have these toys and I hope you enjoy them and I hope you have as much fun with them as I did."

"I know your not as forchanit as I am because I will be getting new toys for Christmas I hope."

"P.S. My little brother said that when you are done with the poodle dog please give it back to him because he loves it."

HAPPY SHOPPERS

Christmas comes with happy shoppers; and with the joy an ### old man found late in life—

James A. Fitton, 82, a pensioner in New Orleans, was orphaned in England and said he was so poor he never got a present as a youngster.

"I never was happy in my whole life," he said. "Then one day I hit on the Santa Claus idea. I became the happiest man in the world."

That's why Fitton, who has a real beard, walks around town in a ragged Santa Claus suit, to share his joy with children.

GRATEFUL MAN

Christmas comes in the gratitude of Frank Bolek of Hamtramck, Mich.

Bolek saved for weeks to accumulate $330 for Christmas for his family. He hid the money in the toe of an old shoe. His wife threw it out with rubbish.

Seven Hamtramck garbage collectors sifted through 40,000 pounds of trash before they found the shoe — and the money.

"To them, I can only offer heartfelt thanks and the prayers of myself, my wife and my four children, because we will have a merry Christmas due to their unselfishness," Bolek wrote to the mayor.

CHILD GOES HOME

Christmas comes in the words of Mary Anne Murray, 11, leaving a Philadelphia hospital:

"I don't care about getting any presents because being ### home is the greatest gift any-body could receive."

She was badly burned Sept. 20 when she re-entered her blazing home in the mistaken belief that her uncle was still inside. Doctors told her she could leave the hospital Thursday and spend the holidays with him.

BLIND WOMAN SEES

Christmas comes with the pleasure Marie Plant Roth of Utica, N.Y., will get from setting the oven controls for the Christmas dinner. She can see the numerals, for the first time.

Her sight so poor as to be officially classed as blind, Mrs. Roth was given vision by a newly developed type of glasses.

BASKETS FOR RIOTERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Baskets of food have been given as Christmas presents to more than 100 needy families who live along Columbia Avenue, scene of Negro rioting and looting last August.

Each basket contained a 10-pound turkey, several vegetables, cranberry sauce, fruit cocktail and bread.

She viewed her gain as an opportunity to serve: "When I can help myself, I have more time to help someone else."

THE CHRISTMAS STORY

by Fulton Oursler

Chapter I THE LONG JOURNEY

From Nazareth it is 75 miles to Bethlehem of Judea. For Joseph and Mary and Anna and Joachim — the aged father and mother also had to go down to be counted — that made a three-day journey. The two women rode on little donkeys, while their men trudged alongside.

Joseph noticed a tightening of his wife's hands as they drew near the town.

"The child must be coming," he told himself. "I will get her to a bed as quickly as possible."

But as they entered the streets of Bethlehem, the press of pilgrims was so great that the pair could scarcely move forward. Five hostleries they tried but all were filled up. Joseph kept on doggedly; he forced his way through the door of the last tavern and demanded to talk to the host.

"My wife is ill," pleaded Joseph. "Her baby is about to be born."

The innkeeper bawled hoarsely. "Sarah!"

His wife came shuffling from the back of the house.

"Look at this woman, the young one, is she having her baby now or is this a scheme to get lodgings?"

An interpretation of the Rembrandt etching (about 1654) at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The Nativity

The greasy wife leaned forward, having the baby now. There's not a bed in the town tonight. "This one," she announced, "But she can't have a baby here voice hoarse with fright, "is on the floor. We've got to do something. Gabriel! There is one warm and comfortable place where we haven't put anybody yet . . . the stable."

"The stable!" echoed Joseph miserably and Anna put her arms around Mary. But the young wife looked gratefully at the innkeeper's wife.

"You are very kind to think of it," she said. "A stable is warm." She turned to Joseph. "These people would surely take good care of their animals. And we will be alone there."

The stable was a roomy cave that extended under the whole building of the inn. They laid a bed of straw against the inner wall, which was warmer and not so damp, and they brought linen and a coverlet and a pillow for Mary's head.

Anna helped Mary to undress, and then went upstairs in search of jars of heated water, while Joseph stood near brooding.

NO SIGN

"Why do we have no sign now?" he was asking himself. "Where is the angel?"

Anna soon came back with the water. She briskly exiled Joseph and Joachim through a rear door, bidding them to stay out until they were sent for.

Joseph trudged up and down in the dark area behind the stable. The hours dragged on. Joachim soon fell asleep. But Joseph walked on like a man in a nightmare, waiting, praying, until at last he heard the sound — a child's first cry.

In the dim light he knelt beside the bed of straw where Mary lay, pale and weak but wide-eyed and with a small, brave smile for him.

Joseph was on his knees. Mary held out firm hands, lifting up her son, wrapped in miserably and Anna put her arms around Mary. But the ingly, the fate of the world reposing in the chalice of her hands.

Even in the first instant of seeing the child Joseph was aware of something extraordinarily different about Him. Somehow he knew that this newborn baby, whose face was not red and crinkled but smooth and white, and whose expression was of such potent innocence and affection, had come into the world to get nothing and to give everything.

IN THE MANGER

Mary had fallen asleep, and there was quiet in the stable. And Jesus, the baby, lay asleep in His first bed, a manger which the foster father had hastily filled with fresh hay and barley oats.

For Joseph, sleep was impossible. His mind, his very soul, was too tremulous and excited. Joseph in that dark hour could have poured out his heart in rapturous conversation. He still felt baffled that there was no further sign.

Presently he heard a low rumble of distant voices, the shuffling of feet outside the house and, at the lower back entrance of the stable, the knocking of a staff. Unfastening the latch, he opened the upper half of the door. A group of bearded faces were staring in at him. Behind them was still the night, dark and clear, with the sparkle of extraordinarily brilliant stars. Joseph had not seen those stars until now.

"Peace!" breathed Joseph. "This is no time to make noise." "The Lord be unto you," returned one of the men in a low, placating voice. "We have not come to make any trouble at all. We are shepherds from the hills. We have been tending our flocks."

"The hour is late," insisted Joseph firmly.

ONE QUESTION
"Wait. Only one question. Has a child just been born in this place?"

"Yes. A child has been born here."

"Tell me — is it a man-child?"

"It is."

"And could it be possible that you have laid the child in a manger?"

"Yes," answered Joseph, feeling the tears gather in his eyes. "There was no cradle, you see. The town is overcrowded; there

THE THIRD GIFT

The third gift of the Wise Men appears at first reckoning to have been in poor taste: "Myrrh is mine, its bitter perfume breathes a life of gathering gloom; Sorrowing, sighing, bleeding, dying, sealed in the stone-cold tomb."

Such hardly qualifies as familiar words of Christmas cheer. Gloom amid angelic joy. Sorrow amid pastoral happiness. Bleeding and dying in the midst of birth and new life. A stone-cold tomb and the warm glow of a manger. How can these be held together in one given moment?

Again, the miracle of Christmas! In this high and holy moment, birth and death, the beginning and the end, are seen at one and the same time. The Babe in Mary's arms is Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. His coming notes the beginning of a new era and the end of an old; the birth of new ideas and the demise of others; the fulfillment of certain promises and the denial of others. As another Mary sought to do a few decades later, the Wise Men chose their treasure right-ly: Christmas is appropriately anointed with myrrh, the spice of death.

EXTREME PESSIMISM
For example, the birth at Bethlehem marked the death of extreme pessimism about Man. The manger is God's declaration of confidence in human nature. When we open our pres-ents on the 25th, we may notice the labels denoting where things are made — radios made in Japan, cameras made in West Germany, etc. But our most precious gift at Christmas is the confirmation that we are made in the mind of God, created and fashioned for a destiny that transcends the dreary predic-tions of yesteryear and to-day. The worth of the individ-ual person, the sacredness of personality, the value of char-acter: This is the proclamation of that night of nights when God draped Himself in the clothing of flesh, "... the incarnate Deity pleased, as man with men to dwell, Jesus, our Immanuel."

Further, this wondrous birth between heaven and earth marked the death of man's bondage to evil, once and for all. Isaiah's revelation became a reality: "Behold my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights; I have put my spirit upon him . . . to open the eyes that are blind, to bring out the prisoners from the dungeon, from the prison whose who sit in darkness." (Is. 42:1-7)

YEARS IN PRISON
Last Christmas, a news ac-count told of a man who had spent 47 years in prison for the slaying of a woman. Most of his life had been spent in bond-age to that crime. Christmas is a divine "emancipation pro-clamation" to humanity, that be-fore us now walks One Who can lead, inspire and save as no other figure in history. To walk in His way is to walk in the light that transforms life as it re-sists darkness. To crown the proclamation with truth and love.

love. Finally, Christmas is a time of triumph over the last great enemy any of us face, for it marks the death of death itself. The cry from the manger bed is a victory cry addressed to the graves of faithful men; God's visitation upon man is eternal. Recall Simeon's brief but eloquent testimony at the very end of the Christmas Story, when the Babe is brought to the temple for dedication. An old man, weather-beaten from many a storm that had raged about him, yet stalwart in faith to God Who had not deserted him, "... he took him up in his arms and blessed God and said, 'Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, accord-ing to thy word; for mine eyes have seen thy salvation which thou has prepared in the presence of all peoples.' (Luke 2:29-31)

"CRY OF A BABE"
"Now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace. . . . Death? Death has been lost in the cry of a Babe, the Lord of life and death."

Halford Luccock once re-lated the exclamation of a lady who had collided with another in a department store at the height of the Christmas shop-ping season: "O this Christmas business! It turns everything upside down."

The truth has exceeded her exasperation. The death of pes-simism about man. The death of bondage to evil. The death of death itself. Bethlehem has conquered them; it has turned them upside down.

There's magic in these sands of time, and as a child you were bewitched with end-less fascination as you watched the grains sift from one glass sphere into another.

But as you grow older, the hourglass begins to have a different significance. Now you see the grains of sand as passing time—almost as if it were being snatched away from you. And there is a kind of desperation watching it go.

Why? Because never again can we recapture these minutes, hours, days!

But let's not bemoan the passing of time. Let's determine to take advantage of those grains of sand which we still cup within our hands. It's really never too late to begin again. God has revealed this important fact of life to us again and again through-out His teachings. Discover it for yourself by going to church.

Struggle In South Viet Nam Is Leapfrog War

By RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The American twin-engine C-123 took off from Da Nang at night, in heavy fog, and a few minutes later crashed into the top of Monkey Mountain. All aboard were killed—two American officers and 36 South Vietnamese troops, most of them equipped with parachutes, as if for a night jump.

Was the plane a "gray ghost," carrying the war north into Communist-held territory of Laos and North Viet Nam?

Are American destroyers shepherding convoys of South Vietnamese commandos north into the Gulf of Tonkin, for stabs into North Viet Nam above the 17th Parallel?

Is the war moving north? Perhaps, but it's really a leap-frog war.

REDS GET STRONGER

At the same time, the Viet Cong guerrillas, fed from North Viet Nam and waxing stronger, were stabbing at many places deep behind Da Nang, in fact almost in the suburbs of Saigon.

Fifty miles south of Da Nang, the Viet Cong silently infiltrated the fertile An Lao Valley. In three days of swift assaults they smashed government forces there, scattered the loamy weapons, including big 4.2-inch mortars.

At Thakhek, deep in Laos, an ammunition and fuel dump is suddenly destroyed in a tremendous explosion and fire.

The Viet Cong is at work again.

It is a pattern that has been followed many times before, including punishing raids on American bases at Soc Trang and Bien Hoa. They are almost in sight of Saigon.

Is the war moving south? Perhaps, but it's really a leap-frog war.

WHO'S WINNING

In the three years since the United States stepped in, who's winning? According to Hanoi, the North Viet Nam capital, the Reds are winning. Hanoi says the Viet Cong have put 400,000 government troops out of action, and 3,000 Americans; shot down or damaged 2,000 aircraft, sunk or damaged more than 800 war vessels and captured more than 40,000 pieces of arms.

Those sound like German or Japanese claims of World War II, but the United States has disclosed 1,773 casualties in Viet Nam, including 235 combat dead. Government casualties have been far heavier, and losses of planes, vehicles, ships and weapons have been serious. There is little question that the Viet Cong has grown stronger on captured weapons alone.

The Ho Chi Minh Trail, named for the president of North Viet Nam, winds south from his country through the jungles and mountains of Laos and feeds into South Viet Nam. Down it pass troops and supplies for the thousands of Viet Cong operating in wide areas of South Viet Nam.

Thus far, no main American base has fallen, and these include Bien Hoa, My Tho, Soc Trang, Can Tho and Ton Son Nhut, clustered around Saigon; Ban Me Thuot and Nha Trang, in central Viet Nam, and Pleiku, Qui Nhon, Quang Ngai and Da Nang, in the north.

The war is, in many ways, a stand-off. Both sides have had their victories, and their wounds. Neither side shows any sign of crying for quarter. There's no end in sight in the leap-frog war.

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas, they say, is for the young. Why, bless our tired old way-faring heart and steaming bifocal glasses, that simply isn't so. Christmas is for the middle-aged. The whole holiday is made up for them.

The truth about Christmas is that children are too small to know its measure, old people are too tired, and that leaves the middle-aged to appreciate its true treasure.

It isn't the child who needs Santa Claus. Reality is fresh and new to him, and the world is a garden of delight. He requires no fable when fact is a sweet-dewed meadow before him.

DISILLUSIONED

It is the middle-aged person, somewhat disillusioned by the ordinary, who has to believe in Santa Claus. It is for him Christmas is necessary, to rescue him from the daily rut and refurbish his faith in the extraordinary.

Childhood needs no such rescue. Middle age can hardly do without it.

I know many middle-aged people who all the year long wait with pathetic eagerness to shed the cloak of commonness, to drop their distrust of humanity, and wear in season the spirit of Jesus Christ as a robust robe.

In particular I recall a middle-aged friend, now not too many years dead, who made of Christmas a necessary event.

PICKED A TREE

He himself went into the High Team Game — Fern Dusters 814
High Individual Series — John Waybright 576
High Individual Game — John Waybright 217

marketplace and picked out the family Christmas tree. It had to fill a need for spaciousness in his life. It had to be green and wide-armed and reach from the floor to a topping star that brushed the ceiling.

He like an old-fashioned Christmas tree with modern touches. To his wife he allowed the purchase of ripe cranberries and the popping of the corn. If she chose to help him laboriously thread the cranberries and the popcorn in red and white strands, that was up to her, too.

But when it came to decorating the tree he allowed no maternal or childish help. Alone, for hours, he wound the cranberry and popcorn ropes, adjusted the lights, covered every needle with gleaming tinsel, put bulbs and baubles here, wide-eyed angels there.

ADMIRE HIS WORK

After it was all done, he would wipe the sweat from his brow and let the rest of the family admire his wonderwork.

"That," he'd announce with unashamed pride, "is a Christmas tree!"

Then he'd invite his neighbors in to view it, and they always had to agree — it was a real Christmas tree, invariably the best in the block.

The truth about Christmas is that middle-aged people give presents to children only as an excuse to have fun themselves. They don't mind expensive toys for others so long as they get a token present back for themselves.

They want to be generous once a year in a stingy world clamorous usually with usual urgencies and strident necessities.

Yes, Christmas is an essential splendor for the middle-aged. It is their day to light a candle to their own hopes.

A charge account is what a woman uses to keep her husband from becoming too independent.

CBS VIEWERS RESPOND TO APPALACHIA

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's warmest Christmas story this season comes from the viewers.

On Monday night, CBS News, in a half-hour program, showed what Christmas — and every other day — is like in the bleak Appalachia region, where people are desperately poor and many are almost without hope.

The response to the program was immediate. CBS affiliate stations all over the country were flooded with calls from sympathetic people who wanted to know what they could do to help and where they could send help.

Neither the network nor its affiliates are equipped to handle such a situation. CBS quickly made arrangements with the Salvation Army, through its national headquarters in New York City — 120 West 14th Street — to set up a special "Appalachia Fund." The Salvation Army will see that the contributions help to brighten the lives of those unfortunate families and their children.

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American problem in Viet Nam becomes more obvious the worse the situation gets. It's more than just helping the people fight the Communists; it's Tuesday night's network schedule was how on earth could Red Skelton in his tramp role of Freddie the Freeloader possibly insert the very elegant and glamorous Greer Garson into the show.

It was a cinch for both Red and Greer — and they managed to toss in a lot of other things as well: "The Hillcrest Drive Elementary School Choir" — the credits gave no further identification of the delightful children — singing Christmas songs; Miss Garson as an elderly Covent Garden flower girl; Miss Garson in gorgeous evening gown reading the "Dear Virginia" letter about Santa Claus, to mention only a few.

Skelton is a wonderful, ingratiating clown. He also is television's iron man and his average of good shows is amazingly high after 14 years of weekly shows.

trying to get them to be willing to fight.

The American-supported war, despite the billions of dollars in military and economic help poured in there, is going down hill while the Communists, united under a dedicated and single purpose, are getting stronger.

The South Vietnamese through their own insensations — there are Buddhist, Catholic, military, political and student factions — are doing as much to lose the fight as anything the Communists can do to them.

SIXTH UPHEAVAL

Over the weekend came the sixth upheaval in government over the past 13 months, starting with the coup that ended in the assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963.

This time a group of young army officers dissolved the legislature and arrested some of its members, thus establishing military instead of civilian control. Thus, while the factious struggle for control in Saigon, the Communists overrun the countryside and the American ambassador, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, slides deeper into frustration. There's no end to this chaos in sight.

GIVES WARNING

Taylor, in a private conversation with Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander in chief of the armed forces, warned that the United States didn't like the weekend development at all.

Khanh hit back with defiance to Washington — although without American help it's impossible to see how South Viet Nam can survive the Communist attack — by solidly backing the young generals' purge of the civilian government.

He warned against foreign intervention in Vietnamese affairs and indicated the purge would not be undone.

PRESENT SITUATION

Washington faces this situation: If the United States should pull out of Viet Nam, almost certainly the country would be lost to communism. Eventually perhaps all Southeast Asia, which is under the shadow of Red China, would fall under Communist rule.

If the United States continues help — and American lives and wealth continue to be lost — and the endless coups go on, chaos and the loss of Viet Nam seem inevitable.

Tuesday night after what must have been a lot of sober thought the United States warned South Viet Nam's military leaders that continued U.S. support is based on existence of a Saigon government "free of improper interference."

This was in the traditional diplomatic language of vagueness. It could mean an ultimatum that there would be a cutoff in U.S. aid if the military does not leave the civilian government alone. But it didn't say so.

If the United States felt it had to pull out, and thereafter South Viet Nam was lost, American prestige around the world would suffer heavy damage.

The Vietnamese military men are probably banking on that: the idea that the United States, no matter how harsh it sounds, will be willing to endure repeated frustrations rather than admit defeat to the world by pulling out.

The gravest problem this country has had to face in trying to get the South Vietnamese and their government — until now any government — to fight off the Communist penetration from North Viet Nam was this simple fact that the people of the area have not truly been on their own — their own unaided masters — for 80 years. Not since the French in 1884 made what used to be called Indochina a protectorate, which is a euphemism for colony.

In short, they have had little experience in governing themselves.

U. S. ADVISER KILLED IN S.V.N.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Army adviser was killed Wednesday by Viet Cong fire and another American was reported missing.

The dead American, an enlisted man, was accompanying a patrol that ran into a Viet Cong platoon of about 40 men near the North Vietnamese border. He was struck in the head and died in an evacuating helicopter, military sources said.

He was the 239th American to die in combat in Viet Nam since the United States stepped up its war effort in December 1962.

The missing adviser was on an operation farther south in the coastal province of Vinh Binh. No details of the operation were available.

A U.S. military spokesman said that 170 Vietnamese government troops were killed last week and 480 were wounded compared with 275 Viet Cong deaths. The spokesman said large-scale Communist operations decreased but the Viet Cong stepped up smaller operations.

Orders Pile Up At Westinghouse

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Donald C. Burnham, president of Westinghouse Electric Corp., says the firm will enter the new year with the highest backlog of orders in its peacetime history.

In a year-end statement, Burnham said Tuesday the company anticipates a continuing high level of sales and new orders in 1965 under expected favorable business conditions.

He also said 1964 billings are expected to exceed $2.22 billion compared to the previous record of $2.12 billion in 1963, and that new orders probably will increase about 15 per cent over the 1963 record.

Westinghouse's capital appropriations are being increased 20 per cent over 1964 expenditures which are expected to run about $30 million, Burnham said.

Halve cooked peeled sweet potatoes and arrange in a shallow baking dish. Heat orange juice, sugar and butter or margarine until blended and pour over the potatoes; bake in a moderate oven, basting a few times.

Cook extra oatmeal and pour into a greased small loaf pan; chill. Next morning, turn out.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John V. Lindsay of New York, spokesman for a group describing themselves as moderate-liberal House Republicans, says Rep. Gerald R. Ford's candidacy for the House GOP leadership "is a general improvement."

But Lindsay said his group, known as the Wednesday Club, took no position in the leadership fight between Ford of Michigan and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the present leader.

Lindsay's group is composed of about 20 of the 140 House Republicans.

WASHINGTON (AP) — John C. Donovan, manpower administrator of the Labor Department, has resigned effective Jan. 15.

The department said Tuesday that Donovan, who had held the post since March 29, was resigning to take a professorship in government at Bowdoin College.

PLAN STUDY ON MINE WATERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Scranton Administration believes it might be possible to treat mine drainage water to avoid stream pollution in the same manner that sea water is converted into fresh water.

Gov. Scranton recommended Tuesday that a short feasibility study be made into the prospect after hearing a report from Dr. H. Beecher Charnbury, secretary of mines.

Charnbury recently returned from an inspection tour of a desalination plant at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The plant is used both to purify sea water for drinking purposes and for generating electricity for the naval base.

No price was attached to the state study, nor was any time set on its length.

Charnbury told Scranton that money for the study might be donated by the coal industry to further research designed to solve or lessen the pollution problem.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY

by Fulton Oursler

was nowhere else I could take my lady. . . .

"Then God be praised!" murmured the shepherd fervently, and the others muttered agreements in their hearts.

"Listen, man," cried one. "We five men have just seen a sight. An unbelievable sight. And it has to do with you."

Hope sprang up in Joseph's thoughts.

GREAT BRIGHT LIGHT

"Believe this thing we tell you. We were all tending our flocks tonight. The night was clear, everything going along just as usual. Suddenly Jonas here pointed at the sky."

"That I did," confirmed Jonas. "There was a great bright light in the sky and the shape of it like an angel bigger than the world. And I heard a voice. . . ."

"What did the voice say?" asked Joseph eagerly.

"It told us not to be afraid."

"Yes. It always begins that way. And then?"

"And then it said it brought us great news. The Savior of the world was being born. I remember the very words; how can I ever forget them? 'For this day is born to you a Savior who is Christ the Lord.'"

"The voice told us the child was being born right here in this town and that we would find it, wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

"ANGELS SINGING"

"You can never imagine what happened then. The whole heaven seemed to open up. The curtain of the stars was split like a tent, and though the opening we saw a host of angels that filled the sky and they were all singing at the top of their voices. . . . 'Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace. . . .'"

The tale of the shepherds brought peace to Joseph. The sign had come at secondhand, which was better. These men, panting and out of breath and humbled, had seen the gates of another world open up and had heard singing from on high, the heavens rejoicing at the birth of Mary's child.

On tiptoe they followed Joseph as he led them straight to the manger, where they knelt beside the sleeping figure of Mary's son.

Soon they were gone, and Joseph resumed his unsleeping vigil. But now his heart was calmed. The sign had come. In his mind's ear he could hear

Christmas Acrostic

By Mary Sue Miller

Mistletoe dangles just over the door,
Evergreens brighten the day,
Ribbons from gifts are knee-deep on the floor,
Uddolph the Reindeer is sung as before,
Youngsters are happy at play.

Cranberry necklaces circle the tree,
Holly wreaths hang from the panes,
Rooftops are white as can possibly be,
Icicles sparkle like sun on the sea,
Snowdrifts are deep in the lanes.
This is that glorious day of the year,
Majesty of you Lovelies be solemn,
And may you find laughter and peace ever after,

CARGO PLANE CRASHES; 3 DIE

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — A four-engine Flying Tiger Air Line Constellation cargo transport crashed minutes after take-off today, killing the three crew members aboard, the airline reported.

A deputy from the San Mateo County sheriff's office said the crewmen were the only ones aboard the New York-bound transport, which took off from San Francisco International Airport at 12:29 a.m. The bodies have been recovered, he said.

The plane crashed several miles from the airport off Skyline Boulevard and San Francisco County Jail Road, the deputy said. The area is unpopulated, he said, about 20 miles from San Francisco.

The Weather Bureau at the airport said at the time of the crash visibility was three miles with light rain and fog and a 1,000-foot overcast.

Woman Celebrates 106th Birthday

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — Maggie Rozier will celebrate her 106th birthday on Christmas Day with an open house.

Mrs. Rozier, who lives here with her daughter, Anna Sears, 72, said her recipe for a long life was, "You must have love in your heart for everybody."

Mrs. Sears is the only one of her eight children still surviving.

Born in Dublin, Ga., in 1858, Mrs. Rozier and her husband moved north in 1920. Her husband died in 1923.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Bobby McEver is only 10, but he is cashing in on an amorous Christmas custom.

Bobby took his rifle and shot branches of mistletoe out of trees at the McEver place.

Then he made some signs: "Missin' Your Kussin'?" Mistletoe 25 cents. "Kissin' Put Youngster Sold Here." He also lures friends to ringing doorbells.

At last report, the youngsters' sales were more than $40.

Soldier Writes Christmas Letter From War-torn Viet Nam To His Wife In Texas

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is a Christmas letter from one of the 20,000 U.S. servicemen on duty in Viet Nam. It was written from the war-torn Mekong delta by Army Capt. Don Masters to his wife Ann in Austin, Tex., and made available to The Associated Press.

CAN THO, South Viet Nam (AP) —

My Dearest,
It's the last of December and you can tell Christmas is drawing near. But some of the traditional atmosphere is missing. It's hot and muggy in Viet Nam's Mekong delta.

Tonight grown men stood around a wilting Christmas tree in shirt sleeves and short trousers singing carols. The tree stood on a mound of sandbags. Its base was covered by a white bed sheet.

There were a handful of American children — missionaries, dependents and children of the American civilian doctors who spend two or more years working with the Vietnamese in their hospitals. The American children stood side by side with the little brown Vietnamese children whose parents work inside the compound.

HE WON'T MIND

I couldn't swear that behind those little brown eyes lay a brain schooled in Christianity, or whether the gleam in their eyes saw the figurine of the Christ child or the gaily decorated packages.

But if my God is the God I know, he won't mind.

When the presents were handed out, the American children helped the timid little hands carefully open their gifts. It seemed the smaller the child the bigger the present.

Some American children received the small, less-expensive presents. I asked one little 10-year-old girl how she liked her present.

"IT IS BEAUTIFUL"

"That is a rat, dep," she said. I frowned.
"That means it is beautiful," an American child said.

"Oh," I said.
The little American girl leaned over and whispered, "I asked mommy to save the big ones for home. Theirs — she pointed to the Vietnamese — should be the big ones."

She left me to go over and admire their presents.

When the party was over I went back to my room. I wanted to be alone with the pictures of you and the children. I sat down at my desk and gazed at you for a long while, just dreaming.

I almost opened my Christmas present; but then I am a grown man. I guess I can wait. At least I'll try.

The music on the armed forces radio station told of chestnuts roasting over an open fire and "yet in the dark street shineth the everlasting light."

FEELING PRETTY LOW

I picked up the Christmas cards I had received. . . . There was a card from Mr. Yen, a Vietnamese combat photographer. "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year" written in Vietnamese, English and French. Well, you can't go wrong there. And engraved was a picture showing Yen with his camera over his shoulder wading waist deep across a stream alongside a Vietnamese rifle squad.

And a card from each one of our four little ones. And then there was the one card from you — the gal who made it all possible. The same hair, the same eyes, the same mouth.

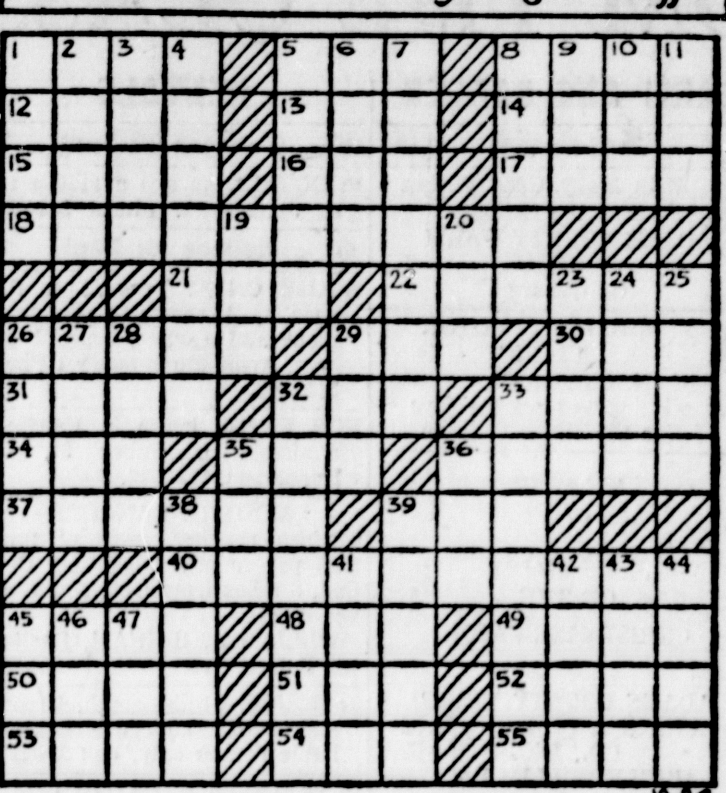

I got to feeling pretty low. So I decided to turn in for the night.

"WE ARE GRATEFUL"

I started getting dressed for bed when I noticed an unmarked envelope on my pillow. The houseboy must have put it there while I was at the party.

Scrawled in a halting handwriting were the words: "You have left your country and your family to come here and to

TOURISTS TO VISIT STATE FOR HOLIDAY

Another yuletide season is here with Pennsylvania once again able to lay strong claims as the "Christmas State" according to the Travel Development Bureau of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce.

Christmas has always been considered a stay-at-home season, but recent figures show an increasing number of families from other states spending the Christmas season in Pennsylvania.

Many come to see the nation's "Christmas City," Bethlehem, and its huge star of Bethlehem atop South Mountain as well as the most impressive array of lights in the country. All the churches in Bethlehem have special services during the Christmas holidays. Some of the Moravian churches feature "Putz" displays which are settings of miniature figures depicting the Nativity story.

VISIT HISTORIC SITES

Other visitors, perhaps a bit nostalgically, go to Valley Forge and Washington Crossing and recapture the atmosphere of that Christmas Eve so long ago where Washington and his tiny army crossed the Delaware and caught the British off guard. Each year the crossing is re-enacted on Christmas Day.

A gala search is held at 3:30 p.m. Christmas Eve for the yule stand with us in the fight for freedom. We are very grateful to you. On the occasion of Christmas and the New Year we wish you a good year, good health to your family and that our combat obtains victory."

It was signed Yung, a student of Gia Long secondary school. I felt better. I turned out the lights and opened the curtain. I looked up into the moonlit sky. In the distance the artillery boomed in the damp, still air.

Yes, I can wait until Christmas to open my present.

Love, Don.
